

Maui Boy Wounded In France On Way Home

Has Completely Recovered—Went Over Top Three Times—Insurance Awarded Mother For Other Son's Death

John Francisco Rodriguez, of Paia, has just received word that his son, Corporal Manuel F. Rodriguez, who was wounded in France in fighting with the American forces last summer, had arrived in Oakland on his way home. The news came in a letter from the boy's uncle who lives in Oakland.

According to the latest information young Rodriguez has completely recovered from his wound, the nature of which was not stated. The letter also said that the young soldier had been some hot fighting, and had come over the top in charges three different times, but had been wounded but once.

News that the boy had been hurt reached Maui last September in the brief casualty reports of the war department.

Brother Dies In Service

Richard S. Rodriguez, a brother of Manuel, and also a soldier, died from disease on the Mexican border some months ago. He was serving in the cavalry branch of the service. His mother has just been advised through the civilian relief department of the Red Cross that she is to receive as her son's beneficiary, $5000 in insurance which he carried. This amount is to be paid in monthly installments covering a period of 20 years.

Arbor Day To Have Most Interesting Feature This Year

WASHINGTON, April 8—(By Associated Press.)—Commencement Day at many colleges will have for part of the program this year the planting of Memorial trees in honor of former students who gave their lives or offered their lives to their country in the World War. Arbor Day will be more widely marked this year than ever before, because of memorial tree planting.

In Atlanta a memorial group is being worked out at "Pershing Point" where memorial trees will be planted. Minneapolis will have a "Memorial Drive" three miles long which will be part of a park system forty miles long. At St. Louis beautiful Lindell Boulevard is to be planted with memorial trees. Camp Bowie in Texas will be marked with a memorial boulevard planted with memorial trees. There will be much planting of trees by schools, communities, women's clubs and motor highway associations to honor those who died in the war, says the American Forestry Association.

Japan Decides To Make Small Change In Election Laws

TOKIO, March 31—(By Associated Press.)—A revised election law, having been approved by the Privy Council has been introduced in the House of Representatives. Mr. Tokunami, the Home Minister, introduced the bill with an explanation that the government's motive in doing so was to meet the altered conditions of the times as well as the nation's advancement in political thought.

Public interest in the bill centers in the clause extending the franchise. The number of voters under the existing law is 1,460,000 or 2.6 percent of the total population, the minimum tax requirement being $5. The present bill would give the vote to 2,800,000 persons with the payment of at least $1.50 in taxes as the standard.

The proposed new law also provides smaller electoral districts by the use of which the government hopes to reduce the election expenses incurred by candidates. On the other hand the number of members in the House of Representatives would be increased from 381 to 464.

The opposition is expected to introduce a universal suffrage bill for which there has been much agitation. It is expected that the government bill will pass the lower house by a large majority.

BREWERIES CLOSE WATER WORKS LOSE SOURCE OF INCOME

CINCINNATI, O., March 31—(By Associated Press.)—Despite the fact that water may become a more popular drink in Ohio after May 26 when the state goes dry, prohibition will result in sale losses of more than $100,000 a year to the Cincinnati waterworks, according to W. F. Von Hohen, comptroller.

The estimates that Cincinnati breweries, distilleries, manufacturers of accessories of intoxicants and saloons annually consumed water for which they paid the city more than $100,000 and this income will be discontinued under prohibition.

Russia May Have Man Capable Of Uniting Country

LONDON, March 15—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—General Denikine, head of the Russian Volunteer Army, which is fighting Bolshevism in Southern Russia, is described by an English admirer from Odessa as, "A man of about 50 years with regular features and the fine presence of the striking Russian type. He gives one the impression of being a broad-minded, high-thinking, determined, well-balanced man."

The Associated Press correspondent met this Englishman, whose name may not be disclosed at the British Foreign Office.

Denikine, he said, is guiding his army and his "Special Council" through dangerous shoals, but so far he has not encountered any reefs. The "Special Council", he explained, is a legislative body which is laying the foundations of a "new All-Russian government". He described its members as reformers, "all broad-minded and determined to give Russia every possibility of gaining a place among the great free nations of Europe."

The Volunteer Army now numbering 100,000 men and holding a belt reaching from Black Sea to the Caspian, he described as non-political. "It stands", according to the traveler, "for a united free Russia, for freedom of press and speech, and is aiming to bring about such conditions in Russia that an administrative government can be formed by the will of the people in a fair election."

Denikine, the Englishman said, is supported by representatives of various political parties, including Cadets, Republicans, Social Democrats and the right wing of the Social Revolutionaries.

"In Bolsheviki Russia", he continued, "there is only one party—the Bolsheviki party. Healthy progressive Socialists are now suppressed. These Socialists realize that under Denikine they are working to form a progressive element in a stable government. They are in his army and in his 'Special Council'. All parties surrounding the council have learned by experience that possibly for a time a dictatorship will be necessary in Russia to bring about that state of freedom which they have been waiting for for years."

"All these political parties and the army are looking to the Allies, to whom they held through their difficulties, to help reinstate Russia as a great nation. They are willing to fight, and they only ask for munitions, technical aid and advice."

A common purpose, said this observer, actuates General Denikine and Admiral Kolchak, head of the All-Russian government at Omsk. They are separated by strongly-held Bolsheviki territory and whether they will be able to join forces at an early date, he was unable to say.

"Just before I came away", he said, "General Denikine remarked to me, 'It would be sweet to hear the bells ringing in Moscow. But our task is so heavy we cannot march. We can only crawl.'"
